What started as a decision to change just the flooring in this home resulted in a full makeover and revamp. This open-plan house looks out onto the beautiful views of the dam and is the perfect family home for these residents.

To enhance the spaciousness, a neutral palette was used throughout, giving the residents a canvas that they could add pops of colour to with accessories and soft finishes.

The modern interior was designed with relaxation in mind – each space has been furnished in a clean yet inviting manner, and allows these residents to instantly relax and enjoy life at their own pace.

With its cosy couches and clean lines, it is no wonder that the warm and welcoming living area is a family favourite. Enclosed with large glass sliding doors, this space also looks out onto the porch and swimming pool and beyond that, the dam. This area can be enjoyed year-round in comfort and style.

By the owners choosing to work with only experts in the industry, this home proves that quality always trumps quantity. With no frills or fuss, the home shows off exceptionally designed and decorated spaces that have been created to stand the test of time. It's no wonder the owner considers the home "a place that is sacred to us and holds a shelter for our near and dear ones". 🏡

ABOVE: Décor Identity assisted with the full renovation of this home. The company also customised all the furniture and curtains and supplied all the décor accessories and smaller items. The client wanted a home that allowed them to walk into a relaxed space – one that feels like a lodge experience after a long day at work.

LEFT: Ensuring the perfect climate control throughout this home, and especially during the hot Highveld summers, is the air conditioning unit that was installed by Freeze Air Conditioning. The company passionately believes in providing the highest levels of quality and excellence in the installation, maintenance and sales of quality air conditioners.

"(This is) a place that is sacred to us and holds a shelter for our near and dear ones."
– the home owner
